Detective Mathew Ward, of the Brooklyn Detective Bureau, late this afternoon found the jewelry which Theodore S. Whitmore declares his wife wore on Christmas when she disappeared, and which was not found on her murdered body in the Harrison, N. J., swamp.

Cries for "Dope."

The property was found in the safe of the saloon of Fred E. Radin, at No. 49 Tillary street, at the corner of Adams street, almost directly across the street from where the Whitmores lived. Whitmore frequented the place. According to the proprietor, he brought the jewelry and some silverware to him on the night of either Dec. 30 or Dec. 31, saying he was going away and wished him to keep it for him and hiswife.

The property consists of a diamond ring, marquise ring, turquoise ring with ten diamonds, a garnet ring, a wedding ring, breastpin set in liamonds, lovers' knot breastpin, pearl pin, plain gold locket, with picures of two children inclosed, and a quantity of silver knives and forks.

Whitmore stated specifically that his wife wore the locket and the fiamond rings. The property was taken to Headquarters to be identi-
